Seventeenth Congress.

IN SENATE, April 29, 1832.

MR. Holmes, of Maine, gave notice that he should, to-morrow, ask leave to bring in a bill to relieve the people of Florida from oppressive taxes. The resolution offered by Mr. Noble on Friday last, calling for information to be furnished at the next session of the number, &c. of pensioners, was taken up and agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Johnson, of Kentucky, the Committee on Roads and Canals were discharged from all the subjects referred to them on which they have not heretofore reported.

Southwestern States of America.

The Senate, according to the order of the day, took up, in committee of the whole, Mr. Lowrie being called to the chair, the bill from the House of Representatives making an appropriation of $100,000, to defray the expenses of Missions to the independent nations on the American continent.

The question was after some amendments being offered and rejected, taken on ordering the bill to be read a third time, and was decided in the affirmative, as follows:—Yeas 26.—Nays.—Messrs. Lloyd, Macon, Smith.—3.

The Senate then went into the consideration of Executive business, which occupied it until near 4 o'clock; when the Senate adjourned.

Tuesday April 30.

The bill making appropriations to defray the expense of Missions to the independent nations of the American continent, was read the third time, passed, and returned to the other House.

Mr. King, of New-York, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported the following bill, which was read: Be it enacted &c. That on satisfactory evidence being given to the President of the United States, that the Ports in the Islands or Colonies, in the West Indies, under the dominion of Great Britain, have been opened to the vessels of the United States, the President shall be, and hereby is, authorized to issue his Proclamation, declaring that the Ports of the United States shall thereafter be open to vessels of Great Britain, employed in the trade and intercourse between the United States and such Islands, or Colonies, subject to such reciprocal Rules and restrictions as the President of the United States may by such Proclamation make and publish any thing in the laws, entitled "An act concerning navigation," or an act entitled "An act supplementary to an act concerning navigation," to the contrary notwithstanding.

And be further enacted, That this act shall continue in force to the end of the next session of Congress, and no longer.

The Senate spent some time to-day, on Executive business; and having agreed on the motion of Mr. Walker, to meet henceforth at 10 o'clock in the morning. Adjourned.

Wednesday, May 1.

The bill to amend the act of 1802, regulating trade and intercourse with the Indian tribes, after some debate was ordered to a third reading. The bill to repeal the act concerning vaccination, (from the House,) was also ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

The bill vesting in the respective States the right of the United States to all fines assessed for the non-performance of militia duty during the late war, was taken up in committee of the whole. The bill was amended, on motion of Mr. Findlay, so as to limit it to the State of Pennsylvania, and after a short discussion, it was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

The bill introduced by Mr. King the day previously, concerning the navigation laws, was then taken up in committee of the whole, and Mr. K. moved an additional section, authorizing the President, in case of a commercial arrangement with France, to suspend the act to impose a new tonnage duty on French ships and vessels, and for other purposes.—Mr. King remarked, that this section was intended to enable the President of the United States to meet France, in case that government should, before the next session of Congress, remove the existing commercial difficulties between the two countries, by repealing what was usually termed her "eighteen d. l. act." He did not say what probability there was of a removal of these difficulties; he could only say there was a hope, an anxious hope, entertained for their removal—and should that event happily occur, the section now proposed would enable the President to meet promptly any steps which France might take towards so desirable an end. The amendment was agreed to, and the bill ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

Thursday, May 2.

The following engrossed bills were severally read a third time, passed, and sent to the other House for concurrence, viz.

A bill in addition to an act concerning navigation.

The bill from the other House to repeal the act entitled "An act to encourage vaccination," was also read the third time, passed, and returned.

The bill to relieve the people of Florida from the operation of certain ordinances passed by the American authorities there, was taken up, in committee of the whole, Mr. Chandler in the chair; and after some discussion it was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

The bill from the House of Representatives, providing for the appointment of deputy collectors of the customs, was next taken up; when

The question of indefinite postponement was decided in the affirmative, and

The bill was rejected.

Mr. Smith laid on the table an amendment of the rules, to prohibit the vote of any member from being received or entered on the journal, who shall not be in his seat when the yeas and nays are taken.

The following bill were received from the House of Representatives, and were severally twice read and referred, viz.

A bill further to regulate the Post-Office department, &c.

The Senate then went into the consideration of executive business; after which they

Friday, May 3.

Cumberland Road.

The bill authorizing the erection of toll gates on the Cumberland Road, and making an appropriation of $9000 dollars for the repair of the road, was read the third time and passed, Yeas 29. Nays 7.

The Senate having disposed of all the legislative business on its table, went into the consideration of Executive business—after which they adjourned.

House of Representatives,

Monday, April 29.

Mr. Sanders from the Select Committee appointed to investigate the Post-Office Department, made a report thereon, which was ordered to be printed, and laid on the table.

The bill from the Senate to repeal the 14th section of the act to reduce and fix the Military Peace Establishment (which section establishes General Scott's Regulations for the government of the army,) was read a third time, and the question being on its passage—a debate ensued, and the bill was laid on the table.

The engrossed bill for the preservation and repair of the Cumberland road, was read a third time.

Mr. Taylor said, he considered this bill as so important in its character, and as being such a violation of the constitution, that he felt himself impelled to call for the yeas and nays upon it.

The question was then taken on the passage of the bill, and decided as follows:—Yeas 87. Nays—68.

So the bill was passed, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.

COMPENSATION BILL.

The bill to reduce the compensation of the members of Congress, &c. was then taken up, and the question recurred upon the amendment offered by Mr. Rochester to the proposition of Mr. Alexander Smith to recommit the bill with instruction to report the same in such a manner as to reduce the compensation of the officers of the government twenty per cent.

After a number of propositions to alter the bill, Mr. Smith, of Md. stated that he had moved that this bill be laid on the table at an early hour this morning, but had consented to waive it on being told that it would be disposed of in a short time. But it was now evident that it was leading to a long discussion, and it was indispensably necessary that the military appropriation bill should be passed for reasons which he stated to the House; he therefore renewed the motion, that it be laid on the table. The question was then put and carried—yeas 72. nays 71.

The House then resolved itself into a committee of the whole on the state of the union, (Mr. Conliffe in the Chair,) on the bill making further appropriations for the Military service of the United States for the year 1832.

Mr. Smith, of Maryland, (Chairman of the committee of Ways and Means,) moved an amendment to the bill so as to appropriate $50,000 for the compensation due the citizens of Georgia by the Creek nation, which was agreed to.

The House adjourned.

Tuesday April 30.

Mr. Smyth, of Md. from the Committee of Ways and Means, to whom was referred so much of the President's message as relates to the fiscal concerns of the government, made report thereon.

Compensation Bill.

The House took up the Compensation bill. Mr. Wright's motion, still undecided, for instructing the committee to reduce the allowance for mileage was now decided in the negative: And the main question itself (whether or not the Bill should be recommitted) was decided in the negative.

The Speaker laid before the House a report from the Secretary of State, of the amount of money paid as salaries, outfits, & contingent expenses to foreign ministers, since the year 1800, and the amount paid to each; which was ordered to be laid on the table.

The Speaker laid before the House a communication from the Treasury Department in relation to the funds of the United States in the Western Banks; which was ordered to lie on the table.

The House adjourned.

Wednesday, May 1.

A communication was received from the Post-master-General, exhibiting the actual condition of the Post-office department. Mr. Barber, submitted two resolutions, requiring the Post-master-General to report a general bill, at the next session, for the regulation of post roads throughout the United States; and another bill for regulating the Post-office department, digesting the existing acts on the subject, into one view; and that he point out such alterations as he shall have made in the existing acts and his reasons therefor.

The House refused to consider the resolution offered by Mr. Cocke some weeks since, for the appointment of a committee of investigation, to sit during the recess of Congress.—Mr. Conliffe, of New-York, proposed an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, limiting the pay of members to six dollars per day. It was his intention to ask the House to discuss it at the next session.—Mr. F. Johnson introduced four radical resolutions, the first requiring the clerks in the public offices, to keep their respective offices open for the transaction of public business a longer time each day; the second requiring the heads of departments to report at the next session, how many clerks, &c. will be necessary to transact the public business by a diligent attention to business; the third for limiting the number of officers and seamen in the navy; and the fourth requesting the President at the next session, to cause a plan for a naval peace establishment to be reported to Congress.

Mr. Johnson gave notice that he should call them up on Saturday. Mr. F. Johnson moved that the Committee of the whole be discharged from the further consideration of the bill "further to regulate the Post-office department," which was agreed to. The said bill was then taken up by the House; and considerable progress made therein. Many amendments were proposed and several adopted. Among the latter, was one striking out that part of the bill which increases newspaper postage, and that part which limited the exchange of newspapers by printers to six from each State, and fifty in the whole.

Adjourned.

Thursday, May 2.

Mr. Warfield from a committee on the subject, made a report in favor of employing Reporters at the expense of government, to give a full and correct statement of the debates and proceedings of the House, and, authorizing the Speaker to receive proposals from Reporters during the recess of Congress. The report was laid on the table.

The Committee of Claims, were discharged from the further consideration of business before them.

A message was received from the President of the U. States, stating that the government of Norway, had passed an ordinance for admitting vessels of the U. States into their ports, upon paying no other duties than their own vessel; and that Norway requested a reciprocal act on the part of the United States.

The Post office bill was passed, 91 to 56.

The Military appropriation bill was taken up in the House. The amendments of the committee of the whole were concurred in. The sum of 75,000 was substituted for the contingent expenses of the Indian Department. Mr. Patterson excepted to an agreement with the committee of the whole in the appropriation of about 19,000 dollars for the payment of the expenses incurred by court martials in the state of New-York. A very spirited debate ensued, when the question was taken, and decided in the affirmative, yeas 134, nays 15. A proposition for striking out the appropriation for Fort Calhoun, was not decided upon when the House adjourned.

Friday, May 3.

A message was received from the President of the U. States transmitting letters received at the Department of State, from the resident minister of Great Britain on the subject of discriminating duties on rolled iron and hammered iron imported. The message was read, and with the papers, was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Wood, from the Committee on the Expenditures in the Department of State, made a report thereon, which was read, and on motion of Mr. Tomlinson, was ordered to be laid on the table.

Military Appropriations.

The House having resumed the consideration of the bill, making certain appropriations for the military service, the question recurred upon the motion of Mr. Cocke, to strike out the appropriation of 50,000 dollars for fort Calhoun.

M. Colden, after a few remarks, to show the necessity of acting on this bill without further debate called for the previous question, which was sustained by the House.

The question of engrossment was then put, and decided in the affirmative.—Yeas 131, Nays 20.

The compensation bill was then called up; and on motion of Mr. Sanders it was ordered to be laid on the table, without a division, by a large majority.

The House adjourned.

LEXINGTON, APRIL 23.

Our Currency.

THE state of our currency, far from experiencing any improvement, is become worse than ever. It was supposed that the measures adopted by the Bank of the Commonwealth, to suspend further issues and to call in from its d. b. two per cent per month, would stay the progress of depreciation. For a moment they seemed to produce that effect; but the depreciation has commenced with greater rapidity than ever. It proceeded, I think, at once, within the last week from 170 to 200, and in some instances 210 in paper for 100 in specie. It may now be fairly quoted at two dollars a paper for one in specie generally, and under some peculiar circumstances much more.—What has given this sudden and great impulse it is difficult to say. But in the history of all paper systems similar events may be found.

NEW-YORK.

NEW-YORK MAY 7.

By the Edward which arrived on Saturday we learn that the U. S. brig Enterprise, Lieut. Kerney, was off Tampico on the 5th of April, taking in water, bound through the Gulf touching at Vera Cruz, towards Havana, thence to Charleston and this port which she expected to reach in June.

The Enterprise had touched at Campeachy and Vera Cruz. Left the latter place March 27 at which time the Royal troops occupied the castle of St. Juan de Ulua, and the Imperialists or Independents, the town, but all was tranquil and free intercourse kept up. The capitulated troops were daily arrived from the interior, and embarking for Havana.

Tampico is a very inconsiderable place consisting of only a few huts made of bamboo and grass.—The surrounding country is said to be very fertile.

The duties levied upon goods arriving at Vera Cruz and Tampico, are heavy, exceeding on some articles their actual value.

The market at Vera Cruz was overstocked, the expenditures of the people being very limited, owing to the habits of the people, they wear a dress made of leather, which requires renewing only once in 3 years. A little rice, some rancid oil, plantains, &c. and the produce of the waters, satisfy them for food; so that the choicest articles of the U. States and other countries can become only an appendage to the supply they have been accustomed to, and are purchased on their own terms or left on board to rot.

Latest from England.

The Ship Jasper, Capt. Crocker arrived here last evening, in 28 days from Liverpool.

Capt. Crocker has favoured us with a London paper of the 7th, and Liverpool to the 9th of April, being two days later from London than before received.

Advices from Constantinople to the 6th of March, state, that the Turkish Divan had unanimously resolved, that the propositions contained in the Russian ultimatum, were of a nature which never could be excepted. This information was received by express, at London, on the afternoon of the 8th.—It had produced a further decline in the French funds of 1 per cent. In London the stocks had fallen owing to the information received from Constantinople.

On the 1st of April, on motion of Mr. Robinson, the House of Commons took up the consideration of the Colonial Trade Acts, and discussed the question at some length for the colonial trade to all nations. The resolutions, to this effect, were then agreed to, and the Chairman of the Committee directed to bring in two bills as recommended. A great deal of unanimity prevailed on this subject.

The British Parliament adjourned on the 1st of April for a fortnight.

It is lamentable to observe, that the spirit of outrage is yet unsubdued in the South of Ireland. Neither judicial punishments, nor legislative restriction, seem to have any other effect than to check for a moment the current of insubordination which still continues to roll on, and spread devastation in its course. The accounts received in London, bring hideous details of fresh murder, fresh barbarities, and fresh acts of violence and rapine.

From Curacao.

Capt. Ireland, who sailed 18th ult, informs, that a convoy of 9 sail, had just arrived from La Guaira. The patriot squadron were blockading Porto Cavello which place it was expected would surrender in a few days. The inhabitants being short of provisions. It was reported that Coro was retaken from the Royalists, and that Morales, with his 3000 troops, was hemmed up in the neighborhood of Maracaybo, by the patriots, so that his capture was inevitable.

CONGRESS.

On Wednesday last, in conformity to a joint resolution, the two Houses of Congress were to close their session; to meet again on the 2d Monday of November next.

In the House of Representatives on Saturday last, the bill for abolishing the factory system of trade with the Indians, was read a third time and passed.—The Speaker laid before the House a report from the President, in compliance with a resolution of the 4th of April, requesting the copy of a letter said to have been written by Jonathan Russell, Esq. one of our Commissioners at Ghent; the President acknowledges that there is such a letter, marked "private," and was therefore not deposited in the archives of the Secretary's office, but retained among his own private papers, (he having been Secretary of State at that time.) For reasons set forth in the correspondence, the President declines furnishing the House with a copy for the present.—A great mass of business, principally of a local and unimportant character, was subsequently acted upon by the House. After which, Mr. Governor, the President's private Secretary, delivered the Veto of the President upon the bill for the preservation and repair of the Cumberland road.—At 4 o'clock the House voted a recess for two hours.

During the evening session, the President transmitted at length, his reasons for putting his veto on the Cumberland road bill, consisting of 104 pages of folio foolscap, which was ordered to be printed.—Sixty-nine bills, mostly of a private nature, were afterwards considered in committee, read a third time, passed, and sent to the Senate for concurrence.—The House adjourned at 20 minutes past 11 o'clock.

Close of the Session.

The National Intelligencer of Saturday last, says,—"We have arrived at the last day of the present session of Congress, as to any measures which have not yet passed the House in which they originated; the three last days of the session being, by the new rule, devoted, in each House, to bills which have passed in the other House. A large proportion of the business which has originated in the House of Representatives is yet undecided, and must lie over to the next session. The Compensation bill, which occupied three days of the time of the house, (sitting eight hours each day,) and which is yet in suspense, has defeated many bills. The bill was yesterday laid on the table and may be considered as one of those laid over to the next session. The subject of fortifications and the contracts under them, have also occupied much time, and been the means of preventing the consideration of many important propositions. The appropriations for those objects, however, were yesterday passed by an overwhelming majority in the House of Representatives."

The Hon. JAMES D'WOLF, Senator in Congress from this State, arrived at Bristol on Monday last, and on Thursday was complimented by the citizens of that place with a public Dinner at Horton's Hotel!

Ship Frederick Augustus.

Letters were received here yesterday from Capt. Earl, of the Ship Frederick Augustus, of this port, on a Whaling voyage, dated Nov. 15, 1821.—She arrived round Cape Horn after a passage of 3 months and 4 days from this port, and had then taken 4 whales.—On the 31st of Oct. Capt. Earl put in to St. Mary's, when a small boat came off with Capt. Moison, of the brig Ocean, of Boston. Capt. M. informed, that his vessel had been taken by the Spaniards, while laying in the south bay of St. Mary's—that he had made his escape that morning from Orico, where he was to have been shot the next day.—Capt. Moison also stated, that Capt. Russell of the ship Hero of New-Bedford, was shot at Orico 4 days after his capture, and Capt. Clark, of the British ship Perseverance, was shot about 4 months after—it was said, that when Capt. Russell was brought out to meet his fate, he requested his executioners to shoot him directly through the head, which they refused.—On Capt. Earl's receiving the above information from Capt. Moison, he immediately got under way, and proceeded to sea.—Capt. Moison was landed at Valparaiso from the Frederick Augustus.

Military Nominations.
The National Intelligencer of Saturday last, contains the proceedings of the Senate, in relation to the nominations by the President, of Col. Towson and Gadsden, of the Army; and their negative vote thereon.—The documents and decisions, occupy ten columns of the Intelligencer. It appears from the documents, that the disagreement has arisen out of these two appointments by the President, which the Senate did not confirm.—On the 12th of April, the President sent a message to the Senate, containing his views at large, on the subject of appointments, and re-nominating Col. Towson and Gadsden. The Senate referred the message to the Military committee, who reported against the nominations; and on the 23rd ult. the report of the Committee was agreed to, yeas 25, nays 17.
The Senate do not appear to have been actuated by any personal prejudices against Col's Towson and Gadsden, in rejecting their nominations, but solely from a conviction that the military arrangements connected with their appointments, are incorrect, and calculated to produce collisions, dangerous to the service, and to the public welfare.
U. S. Brig Enterprise.
Capt. Savage, arrived at Boston from Campeachy, reports, that the Enterprise arrived there about the middle of March, and sailed on the 27th for Vera Cruz. He understood she had taken, at different times, seventeen sail of piratical vessels, and destroyed most of them; but made no prisoners, their crews having all made their escape.
Capt. Savage also informs, that a difference had occurred between the Governor of Campeachy and Capt. Kearney. The former intending to seize some property which the latter considered American, and was determined to protect, and to retaliate any hostile measures.
Destructive Fires!
A very destructive fire broke out at Norfolk, on Tuesday night week, about 11 o'clock, which destroyed about thirty buildings, and a considerable quantity of goods. It originated in an old frame house, on Fayette street, nearly adjoining the large fire proof warehouse owned by Mr. Geo. M'Intosh, which, together with the whole block was only saved by the wind giving the flames a contrary direction.
The house in which the fire originated, was soon consumed, and the flames impelled by a strong S. W. wind soon enveloped the whole block of buildings, included between it and the warehouse of Messrs J & P. E. Lab in that direction, and between the east side of Fayette street and the warehouse built by Mr. George Murray, and recently occupied as the Custom House; of all of which except the back house of Mr. Stephen Harris, and the warehouse of Geo M'Intosh, nothing remains but a heap of ruins.
The principal sufferers are Mr. John M'Phail, Mr. Whitlock, Mr. Henry M'Dowell, Mrs. Hamilton, Mr. Merchant, Mr. B. Bodoult, Mr. M'Phail's loss is stated to be by far the greatest.—His warehouses stored with rice, tobacco and coffee, the cargo of the brig Unity, which recently put into that port in distress, on her voyage from Baltimore to Rotterdam and a large quantity of salt, staves and cotton, all of which except a few barrels of rice, which had been previously taken out, were entirely destroyed. Mr. M'Phail's individual loss is stated to be from 12 to $15,000.
A block of small brick and wooden buildings (12 or 14) in Barrow street, Baltimore, were burned down about 12 o'clock, last Friday morning, and many of the occupants with difficulty escaped. Mr. Montgarrett, a cooper, was killed; Mr. Bachelor, a blacksmith, and three others, were badly wounded by the falling in of a roof. The fire is said to have originated in a stable.
The spacious and elegant mansion house of Mrs. Elizabeth Boyd, of Mecklenburg county, (Va) was also destroyed by fire on the night of the 23d ult. together with much valuable furniture &c. The house worth about 10,000, dollars not insured.
Canals.
Several projects appear to have lately been started for opening canals in this, and two or three of the neighbouring States. One proposes to open a canal between the river Thames in Connecticut, and Worcester county, in this State; one from New-Haven to the county of Hampshire; one from Farmington, to the county of Berkshire, one from Sharon (Conn) to Hudson River, and another from Worcester to Providence. But the one in which this town and vicinity will feel a more particular interest, proposes to open a direct water communication between Taunton and Boston. The practicability of such an enterprise is supposed to admit of no question. A canal of about twenty two miles connecting Taunton River with Boston Bay at Weymouth landing, would open an easy communication between Boston and Taunton, Providence, Bristol and Newport; but an ulterior and perhaps still more important object would be effected by facilitating the intercourse between Boston and New-York. The Steam boats between these cities passing through the canal proposed and Taunton and Providence rivers to Wickford, R. I. would be interrupted in the whole distance from Boston to New-York, by a land carriage of only a few miles between Wickford and Norwich.

Taunton Reporter.
At the present session of the Legislature of Connecticut application will be made for leave to form Canals to Massachusetts, and to establish a turnpike road between Norwich and New-Haven which would shorten the distance twelve miles, and will be the shortest route from New Haven to Providence and Boston.
The Naval Court Martial, assembled on board the ship Independence at Boston of which Com. Tingey was President, having closed the trial of Lieut. Abbot, on Tuesday last adjourned without day.
It is stated that Mr. Gallatin would leave France in the month of April, on his return to the United States.
An unsuccessful attempt was made on the night of the 29th ult. by the Pirates confined in the upper story of the Charleston jail, to effect their escape by making an aperture in the brick wall, with an iron bar wedged from the door.
A severe shock of an Earthquake was experienced at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, on Saturday afternoon, about 10 minutes before 3.
COMMUNICATION.
We understand that all the Engine Companies in this Town, will assemble on the Parade this Afternoon, with their respective Engines, to try their skill in the management of them; and to ascertain the distance which their Hoses united would extend, and the best manner of working them to the greatest advantage.—The plan certainly is judicious, for in a town like ours, consisting principally of wooden buildings, we know not how soon it may be required of us to perform in reality, this important duty.—As some time has elapsed since we experienced the direful effects of Fire, it is natural to infer, that the Firewards have become somewhat rusty, as to the performance of their duty; and as great responsibility is attached to them, it is indeed desirable that they perfect themselves as far as practicable, so as to operate systematically, when perils of this kind surround us. Much depends on discipline, firmness and presence of mind. Without system, particularly in such cases of emergency, what incalculable evils ensue from confusion. One moment's reflection must convince every reflecting mind of the necessity of attention to this subject, as it is indeed important.

POETRY.

FROM THE CHARLESTON COURIER.

LOVE.

LET us love while life is young,
And the vital stream is glowing;
When the heart is newly strong,
And the tide of health is flowing.

Let us pluck the Paphian rose,
When he bud is first unfolding;
Ere its wither'd petals close,
In the misty darkness moulding.

Pluck it when the morning dew
Twinkles on the new blown flower,
And the vernal sky of blue,
Opens through the melting shower.

Pluck it, when the air is sweet,
And the winds no more are chilling;
When the loving swallows meet,
And the soft-eyed doves are billing.

Weave it in a wreath of bloom,
Let it bind our hearts together;
Now when life is all perfume,
Warm and bright as April weather.

Now when life is dancing on,
Like a glow when flowers are flowing,
Cutting upward toward the sun,
Or in mid-air beauty flowing;

Ere those waving locks of jet,
By the touch of age are thinning,
While the cheek is blooming yet,
And the eye is bright and winning.

Love, in life's delightful spring—
You will find returning passion;
When till youth has taken wing—
Love will then be out of fashion.

If you have a bosom bright,
Longer than the form around it,
Beauty never will require
Love like that, but only wound it.

FROM THE COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER.

THE EAGLE.

MARK'D ye the Eagle rising high,
His wings expanded in the sky?
Behold! he soars with lofty mind,
He leaves the wide of heaven behind,
And rising upward, nobly proud,
He seeks his home within the cloud—
Behold his strong and stately form
Contending sternly with the storm,
With plume unscorch'd, with unscath'd limb

The lightning flies, but blasts not him!
Thus, Genius, can thy soul sublime
Reel at the stormy night of time—
Break thro' the clouds that veil the sky,
And triumph o'er adversity;
Thy beacon which gives light afar,
Is glory's bright and matin star—
Thy track is virtue's, and thine aim
For honor and undying fame.
Yes—when thy prison-house of clay
Is mould'ring in the grave's decay,
Thy monument extends on high
Which time doth harmlessly pass by,
Nor from the golden arch of fame
Dost thou erase thy hallow'd name.
Thy spirit with its wing unfurld
Spreads its broad shadow o'er the world
And fearless it soars on high
To seek a home within the sky—
In the blue fields of yonder heaven,
The fount from which thy fires are given!

MISCELLANY.

[Inserted by request.]

Extract of a letter to the Editor of the Unitarian Miscellany, of Haverhill, by the Rev. SAMUEL MILLAR, D. D.
of Princeton (N. J.)

But against placing the pious, the heavenly-minded WATTS in such company, I feel constrained to enter my solemn protest.—That Dr. Watts lived and died a Unitarian, I consider as settledly established, not only by his biographers, but also still more clearly by his works.

"I have heard much on the subject of his altering his mind; but nothing that deserves to be considered as supporting the allegation has ever met my eye, nor do I believe that it was a fact.

"That a man so pre-eminently conscientious and disinterested as he is consecrated to have been, should have left the world, without drawing and calling in, his Psalms and Hymns, and especially his Doxologies, in all which the Trinity is so strongly acknowledged, is proof enough to any candid mind that he continued to the end of life, to receive and glorify that doctrine."

On the choice of Events.

It is an unspeakable blessing that no avents are left to the choice of beings, who from their blindness would seldom fail to choose amiss.—Were circumstances at our own disposal we should flour ourselves nothing but ease and success, but riches and fame, but protracted youth, perpetual health, unvaried happiness.—All this, as it would be very unnatural, so perhaps it would not be very wrong, for beings who were always to live on earth. But for beings who are placed here in a state of trial and not established in their final home, whose condition in eternity depends on the use they make of time, nothing would be more dangerous than such a power, nothing more fatal than the consequences to which such a power would lead.

On Prejudice.

Prejudice and luxury have certainly very different causes, but I think in effect they are the same. The madman will talk rationally on all subjects, except that which has a particular connection with his madness; and the prejudiced man will talk rationally on the subject that is connected with his prejudice; so that, if I must distinguish prejudice from luxury, I can only say, that prejudice is a perversion of the understanding, which is more difficult to be cured.
